

Walt Gorseley · MBA, CPA

Walt Gorseley is founder of Management Navigator™. Walt works with his clients to launch, operate, restructure and sell businesses. He is experienced in manufacturing, intellectual property development, software development and sales, distribution, retail and service operations in domestic and international settings.

Mr. Gorseley's expertise includes:

- aligning organizational priorities with business vision;
- converting strategic plans into tactical operations;
- revising business models;
- restructuring failing businesses and
- developing and executing exit strategies.

Walt's business operations experience includes: interim Chief Operating Officer for Acutek Adhesives, Inc.; 1-800-Taxicab; DM&A - Valuation and Litigation Consultants; Carlson & Co. - fabricators of sculptures for the world's leading contemporary artists and Implicitcare LLC., developer of intellectual property.

Mr. Gorseley launched his career with PriceWaterhouseCoopers (PWC) in both domestic and international assignments. Following his position with PWC, he founded Gorseley & Co, a full- service accounting and consulting firm serving middle market companies. Walt successfully built Gorseley & Co., then sold the firm to concentrate on working with entrepreneurial and start-up businesses as the Management Navigator™.

Walt has a BA in business from UCLA and MBA from the UCLA-based Anderson School of Business.